RE: IV-D Case No. 21-916020-00-7A

Dear Ms. Beye:

I have informed you of the ongoing problem in the handling of my child support modification action in El Paso County. Your lack of interest is disconcerting.

This is to inform you the El Paso County Child Support Enforcement Unit (CSEU) contacted American National Bank and fraudulently issued the attached bank levy notice using the authority granted to CSEU by the Colorado Division of Child Support Enforcement by stating the order was entered on January 13, 2010, the effective date assigned by CSEU attorney Christina Eigel to the final order using the nunc pro tunc rule.

This is also to inform you CSEU provided fraudulent information to CDHS CDCSE employee Mardi Houston as explained in the attached letter from Ms. Houston also relying on the effective date of January 13, 2010.

Please be advised the attached final order was not entered until March 26, 2010 when someone stamped the order using District Magistrate Jayne Candea-Ramsey's name stamp. I shall presume the Magistrate approved the new order by stamping it, having also received the attached two orders bearing her personal signature at the same time by U.S. mail.

I am certain that anyone with a basic understanding of Colorado Child Support Guidelines and child support worksheets will be well equipped to decide if my allegations of judicial and professional misconduct are true by deciding the issue of whether the correct child support worksheets were used to reflect the Court's orders of January 13, 2010. The answer is no.

If for no other reason than to preserve the credibility of CDHS, I encourage an independent and physical inspection of the worksheets on which the final order was entered.

Sincerely,

R. Wayne Johnson
